

Select a first datafile in which the second datafile will be merged into.

Select a second datafile to combine to the first one.

Check this option to automatically delete both original datafiles from disk after the combined dataset has been successfully saved to file.

Save the combined weather dataset to file.